FOREWORD

The members of the Senior Class present with pride the 1951 HOLLY HAWK. We have enjoyed working on it and hope that you will derive equal pleasure from it.

Between its covers lies a medley of but few of the gaudy hours spent with you. Although it may not be perfect, it contains our deepest endeavors to give to you a yearbook which you will always treasure.

The 1951 HOLLY HAWK wishes to perpetuate the fond memories of Mount Holly High School. Please, give it a chance!

Dedication

TO MISS LILLIAN DUNN

The best o' luck
To you – always!
L. Dunn

Who through loving kindness
And moral support
Has helped us
From our Freshman year
To reach the consummation
Of our high school days.
To whom we turned
When perplexed–
And she always strived
To succor us.
Of whose time and understanding
We received no end.
We would that we could repay her,
Yet we have naught to give
Except this token of our love:
The 1951 HOLLY HAWK.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Be it known by these premises that we, the graduating class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-one of Mount Holly High School, being of reasonably sound mind and in more or less complete control of our faculties as herein attested, do declare this communique to supersede any and all prior written or spoken testimony; and thus do declare this to be our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

To the administrative staff, principal, advisers, and members of the faculty, we leave our most prized possessions: all grounds and equipment together with their myriad of rules and regulations, do's and don'ts, to have and to hold and to dispose as they in their fortitudinous manner see fit.

To the Junior Class, we leave our highest regards and best wishes and the thrill of taking our place as dignified seniors.

ARTICLE II

Billy Joe Abercrombie and John Helton leave their love for airplanes to Dale Davenport and David Long so they may continue to bore their classmates.

To Peggy Anderson, Jean Abernethy leaves her secret of making A's without studying, or the art of being a parasite.

Ray Abernathy leaves his valuable position on the basketball team and his trombone seat in the band to Calvin Greene.

Jack Barrett wills his love and enthusiasm for English to Landy Stilwell and Jeurod Broome.

P. L. Black wills his way of getting out of trouble to Larry Waldrop and Hurdell Lawing.

Bobby Blankenship and Tommy Cauthen leave to Ernest Featherstone the safe way in which they drive their cars.

June Blanton leaves to Daphne Nash her secret of finding a man and keeping him.

To Carolyn Lowe and Ruth Brooks, Billie Bostic leaves her freckles.

Muriel Broome wishes to leave her position as assistant to the assistant assistant office secretary to Lucille Glenn and Betty Deitz.

Bobby Burgess leaves his luck in love, be it good or bad, to Bobby McCluney.

Mack Bynum leaves a bottle of peroxide to Donald Lawing with complete instructions for its use.

Ray Campbell leaves to Howard Tate his manly physique.

Andy Carpenter wills his quiet manner and ability to get along with all the teachers to Martin Holloway.

Sara Cloninger wills to Jean Gowan all the engagements she was unable to keep. Maybe Jean will find time for all of them.

Delores Coleman wills her very quiet manner and refined ways to Catherine Helton.

Carl Cox wanted to leave his two front teeth to Dicky Carpenter in case he might need them some day; but it took Carl so long to get the teeth that the class persuaded him to keep them.

Frances Farris bequeaths to Malvena Davidson her way of just getting by.

June Fortner leaves her jolly disposition to Susan Helton, since neither cares for the silent type.

To Mason Hudspeth and Donald Beatty, Henry Fowler leaves his love for a good friendly argument.

Bette Garrison leaves her famous "snarls" expression to Frances Sigmon.

Nancy Greene leaves all secrets conveyed to her to Pat Gardner to keep along with hers.

Gerald Guice bequeaths a small part of his industriousness to Dean Broome and Eugene Sigmon.

Luther Hall leaves his good looks to Ronald Estridge and Bill Craig.

Jo Rita Harkey wills to Joyce Matkins and Daphne Nash all her shy and bashful ways.

In hope that they make better use of it than she did, Joanne Helms leaves her little book on the art of cutting class to Joanne Cline and Norma Roberts.

Louise Holdsclaw wills her dark features to Ruth Murphy.

Barbara Hollar wills her position on all poster committees to Ann McIntosh and Peggy Nixon.

To Ruby Stilwell, Margie Huffstetler leaves her love for showering out diction so fast that no one but she could possibly keep up.

Dorothy Huit leaves her mischievous ways to Laura Mae Forbes and Doris Morris.

Carl Jackson leaves his ability to be such a pest to Lewis Wallace and Aldean Elmore.

Rachel Jones bequeaths the vacancy left by her on the basketball team to Mary Ruth Biddix and Lucille Helms. She realizes it will take two to fill it.

Bennett Kistler leaves his love, regard, and high opinion of himself to Roger Spittle.

Nan Lathan and Delores Rhyne leave their love for one man to Billie Barrett.

Donnie Lucky leaves to Rea Hager her pretty blond hair, no doubt to make her envious.

To Emily Kelly, Pat McDonald leaves his love for hillbilly music.

Louise McManus leaves the enjoyment she gets from life and her loud way of showing it to Patsy Warren.

Carl Moore wills to Warren Morris and George Perkins one of his cars, so that they can get to school on time as he always did.

Milton Morris leaves to Ray Morris his ability to hop up cars and win races.

Lonnie Norwood leaves his crutches to Gene Hendrix, who may find some use for them after next year's football season.

Since Ann Painter is always in such a rush, she would like to leave a little of her energy to Maude Hartsell.

Pat Patterson leaves her hatred of all the male sex to Helen Kirby.

Jake Rhyne wills to James Cogdill his way with the women.

Jo Anne Sigman leaves her beautiful soprano voice to Estelle Ward.

Bub Sipe leaves to Mr. Dixon any practical jokes he may have overlooked or failed to use in his classes.

Perry Spittle leaves to Glenn Howard all his speedy ways.

Jerry Smith leaves to Warren Morris the sacred duty of taking care of a certain sophomore.

To Betty Bell, Ruth Stone leaves her ability to laugh even though nothing is funny.

John Robinson wills his ability to defy the monitors to Harold Bumgardner and Ralph Hamilton.

Pherdilia Willard leaves the innocent look of hers to Ronald Medders in hope that he can get by with one thing before he graduates.

David Wright leaves all his aches and pains to Paul Dunn, along with the best remedies for them.

Ted Waldrop bequeaths to Dennis Herring all his charm and personality.

To Robert Lee, Lowell York leaves a thorough Latin translation of Caesar.

We appoint and designate with heartfelt appreciation our sponsors, Helen Norris Springs and Roy E. Briggs, as executrix and executor; and do hereby charge them with the supreme responsibility of adhering strictly to the terms of this our last will and testament.

In the presence of legally constituted witnesses and with all the solemnity at my disposal I do hereby affix my mark or signature and seal, this, the first day of June, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-one, A.D.

JEAN MARIE ABERNETHY, Class Testator

CLASS PROPHECY

The alumni of the class of 1951 will again hold their annual reunion at the Waldorf-Astoria. Each member will give a review of his accomplishments.

Our first speaker will be Captain B. J. Abercrombie, who, without our permission, will lecture for three and one half hours on "How to Fly a Terraplane."

Jean Abernethy will sing a few selections from her latest picture, "Jeannie With the Voice Off-Key."

Monsieur Ray Abernathy is preparing to give an exhibition of his fine work as hair stylist for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Girls, grab your big chance to make Hollywood.

Jack Barrett's contribution to the annual reunion will be a tour of the United States on his "Get-up-and-Go" bus line. Our last plea is, "Bring us back alive, Jack!"

Bobby Blankenship will show us his pet smitty. Since he is head salesman for Western Auto, he gets a commission for selling twin smitties. Bob's leisure time is spent getting his customers out of jail.

Billie Bostic will read the introduction of her latest book, "Love Is Where You Find It!"

Others on the program will be:

David Wright, who now owns the Wright Airfield at Kitty Hawk, N. C. Last Hallowe'en night he was cruising around in his ancestors' first airplane when suddenly he crashed with Muriel Broome, who was flying low on her "Magic Broom." She did own the Magic Broom Factory at Alfalfa, S. C.

Bobby Burgess, who has now solved that Al Capone-Mickey Cohen Case. He shot Mickey at his apartment and put Al in prison for life.

Mack Bynum, who has combined all his old cartoon books to form one of his own! "Laff a Day, Month, or Year."

Milton Morris, who has taken the position of Chief of Police of the New York Police Force. Since he has such a horror of fast driving, I'm sure he will be a success there.

Jake Rhyne, who is now fashion editor for Tate-Brown. His latest review for Sunday wearing is red corduroy pants and a yellow shirt. For week days he prefers pastel colored shirts, drape pants, jockey coats, and buck shoes.

Bennett Kistler, who has discovered a new color for burps—burple. I hear the women are going for it.

Delores Rhyne, who having driven every car made, new, used, and antique, now drives a fire truck in Baltimore, Maryland. She goes through town so fast everyone thinks she's a flying saucer.

Nan Lathan, woman heavyweight champion of the world, who will wrestle at Madison Square Garden.

Sara Cloninger, a nationwide fortune teller, will predict everyone's future but her own.

Lonnie Norwood, who now holds the title of "The Nation's Number One Popular Singer." In fact he has a program of his own entitled "Looney's No Hit Parade."

Bette Garrison, who is modeling for Mr. Bow Legs and Mr. Flat Feet at Freak Town, N. J.

Margie Huffstetler, who is the private secretary and accountant for "Mr. I. O. U. Millions."

Barbara Hollar, who is busily working at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. She just won one hundred and thirty first places for her original stick figures at a modern art exhibit.

Ann Painter, head of the Home Economics Department of Woman's College, Greensboro. Her lecture for tomorrow is "How to Boil Water Without Scorching It."

Rachel Jones, physical education director at the "pick 'em up and put 'em back together" gym. She hasn't married because all her boy friends' mothers are afraid of her.

Carl Moore, who has discovered a new wonder drug for tooth decay. He thought it was time something was done since all of his had fallen out.

P. L. Black, boxing coach of the Mount Holly Boys' Club. During practice bouts, the kids have knocked him out only eight times.

Jon Edwards, who has gone into the bug-killing business. He is also part time chef for Chez Montez. Jon's special dish is bug soup and he drinks nothing but "eyeballs."

John Robinson, owner and publisher of the "Pumpkin Center Bugle," which now has seventeen subscribers.

Louise Holdsclaw, the first woman mechanic in the United States. She specializes in hot rods and stock cars.

Donnie Luckey, proprietor of the Luckey Riding Academy. Since she trains the horses herself, you're lucky if you get back alive.

Lowell York, an accomplished pianist, who is starring with Spike Jones and his Wacky-Wacky-Teers.

Charles Sipe, owner of an upholstering shop where he is now designing the interior of the General Motors sport cars.

Gerry Smith and Henry Fowler, who are running a close race in the election for Senator. The people can't decide who promises the most.

June Fortner, who has her own "TB" show. Her theme song is "Lavender Coughing."

Ruth Stone, owner of a chain of theaters where she shows nothing but her own pictures.

Carl Jackson, who settled down and married a girl named "Bubbles." They now have a lot of little soap flakes bouncing around the house.

Nancy Greene, who is owner of "The Greene Home For The Aged." Her old classmates seem to keep her in business.

Joanne Helms, who is still cooking eggs for the "One-and-Only." Before marrying, she served nothing but fresh eggs; now she serves nothing but rotten ones.

Pat McDonald, whose "Pat McDonald and His Little Feet Patters" have monopolized all the programs on television.

Dorothy Huitt, who has found a new way to reduce. Her new product is an electric spot reducer which she sells only to her rivals. You see, it electrocutes you, too!

Delores Coleman, who owns The New Open Air Taxi Service of Mariposa. It takes her little jeep to plow through such a crowded city.

Luther Hall, Chief Clerk and Mopper for Jones Brothers' Super Market. Every Thursday night you can hear him singing "Rag Mop."

Frances Farris, news reporter for the "New York Times." She was visiting Fort Bragg when she saw Colonel Ray Campbell pushing his weight around the new recruits.

Thomas Cauthen, who has just hopped up a hot rod for the races at Indianapolis Speedway. The only person crazy enough to drive it is none other than Carl Cox.

Gerald Guice, professor of "Tuckaseege University," wrote a new book entitled "The Nit Wits of T. U."

Jo Rita Harkey, head bookkeeper for the Forward, Backward, and Sideways Company, starts at the back and works to the front. What a life!

John Helton, Vice-President of Pan American Airways, already has his feet halfway on the president's desk.

Louise McManus, star acrobat for Ringling Brothers' Circus. She is also in charge of training the monkeys.

Patricia Patterson, dietitian for Mercy Hospital, who is doing very well in her work. The patients now realize why they call it "Mercy Hospital."

Pherdilia Willard, owner of the What Knot Beauty Saloon. She has convinced all her customers that straight hair will be the style for the next five years.

June Blanton, chief cook and bottle washer for a member of the opposite sex. She is pretty handy with a can opener.

Jo Ann Sigmon, Red Cross Nurse. She is hated for drawing so much blood from her donors that she has to give them transfusions afterwards.

Perry Spittle is now president of the "Goofy Painters Association." He specializes in painting striped houses, striped cars, and especially striped suits for his old classmates.

Now that we know "Who's Who" and "What's What," we are eagerly anticipating our reunion.

NAN LATHAN, Class Prophet

CLASS POEM

Supplication

Come, O winds,
Scatter the seeds of opportunity about us
So that we may have the chance
To prove our worth to man.

Fall, O rains,
And wash away the hideous stains of greed and hate.
In lieu of these, fill young hearts like ours
With love and kindness.

Shine, O moon,
Cast beams of good fortune upon us, and
Give us a life–long
And full of bliss.

O sun, so bright and warm,
Make us as lustrous as thy ray
And warm the hearts of man
To receive our noble efforts.

The Boys' Chorus is an organization of boys interested in furthering their study of music as well as improving their voices. This year's group, who came from grades nine through twelve, met four days each week to prepare music for various occasions which arose during the year. Through the interest and co-operation of both faculty and students, the Boys' Chorus experienced an unusually successful year.

Dear Dean,

So a very cute and witty boy with whom you can have loads of fun
Keep up the good work. And next year don't flirt too much with those monitors that take my place. I know you are going to miss me sincerely as I am going to miss you, but please try to live through it
I'm not worth that much to you — or am I. Keep that girlish figure and stay sweet for me and the other girls. Keep this old school running on a basis so that the budget can stand it.

Love Babs

D. A. R. Citizenship Winner

On the basis of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism, the faculty and the senior class chose Frances Farris to receive the D.A.R. Citizenship Award. Frances submitted a scrapbook of her activities during her four years in high school to the D.A.R. State Association. At the North Carolina State D.A.R. Convention, she was honor guest of the Major William Chronicle Chapter of Gastonia.

Miss Hi Miss

On the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and personal attractiveness, the faculty and the senior class chose Barbara Hollar "Miss Hi Miss" of Mount Holly High to participate in the fourteenth annual "Miss Hi Miss" events at Winthrop College. As the outstanding girl of 1951 her picture and honors were published in the "Johnsonian," student newspaper of Winthrop, the South Carolina College for Women, and three other leading newspapers.

Dear,

It has been wonderful going to school with a boy as cute and nice as you are! I hope our friendship continues throughout the future. I'm leaving Mount Holly High in your care. Good luck and success always!

Dear Dean,
I'm sorry to have taken so long to write in here but Miss Lipscomb kept us busy this morning.
I can write all day long and still never tell you all I want to. But I'll begin and see if I can half-way make myself clear.
Dean, I think you absolutely the sweetest boy I know. You can always make a person feel good. (That I know from experience).
Dean, do you actually ~~have~~ get as much fun out of life as you seem to? I've often wondered. You just seem to always be having a good time no matter what you're doing or where you're at.
at first, when I didn't know you, I thought you were ~~conceited~~ conceited. Can you imagine that? I can't hardly now, myself. That just goes to show how wrong a person can be. Now that I know you I ~~think~~ don't think I know of another boy that could even begin to take your place.
Love always,
Jackie G.

TODAY'S YOUTH

The adult world is a world for which children are being trained—the world in which they must live. In that world, for happiness, for efficiency, they must observe certain rules—and those rules must be learned in childhood.

Obedience to authority, courtesy, respect for the rights of others, friendliness, these and other qualities must be learned in childhood to be truly effective when the child is grown.

In order to carry out these objectives, the Mount Holly Rotary Club will always be solidly behind the local school system.

Dear Dean,
It really has been fun knowing you this year even though we didn't have any classes together. I want you to know that I think you are the cutest and sweetest boy I know. You always seem to be so happy and gay. Best of luck and happiness will always be yours. If you remain as sweet as you are now I don't know what we would do if you were leaving. We just couldn't get along without you. Dean I just can't put into words all I want to say so I'll have to close just wishing you the best of luck and happiness, which you really deserve. I'll always remember you, and I almost forgot to tell you that you are a very good cheerleader. Those girls would almost be lost without you. Lots of Luck always,

Love,
Frances Hamilton

Dear Dear,

Boy it sure has been a pleasure being in school with you. You are the greatest and best friend I have ever had. Either we did so much and never got mad.
